BIG CITY BOARD HOLDS STORMY SESSION

Glades Observer Staffers Have Our In Current 'Life'

The current double issue of Life Magazine, the special edition on Christianity, contains two separate items representing work by GLADES OBSERVER staffers.

The lead article, "Mighty Wars Over the U.S.," contains a picture of Rev. G. E. Benson, conducting migrant religious services in a Belle Glade beanfield. Editor Jane Rieker and Publisher Allie O'Leary worked with Miami Photographer Stan Wayman for that section of the article on the upsurge in religion.

Earlier last fall, Mrs. Rieker went to Vero Beach to work with Life Photographer Andreas Feininger in picturing the ultra-modern Vero Beach Presbyterian Church for the current Life's color section on "Faith's New Forms."

SAVINGS BOND SALES $270,068 IN NOVEMBER

Palm Beach county purchases of U.S. Savings Bonds totaled $270,068 in November, it was announced by Harry M. McIntosh, chairman of the Pahokee Savings Bond Committee.

Total for the year to date is $3,912,947. Sales have been high throughout the state and Florida is expected to exceed its 1955 sales goal by something in excess of $5,000,000, officials said.

County Fair Planned For Jan. 20-28

Nearly 500 booths and 50,000 square feet of space will be available to exhibitors when the annual Palm Beach County Fair is held Jan. 20 through Jan. 28 on its recently-acquired 15-acre site in John Prince Park, it was announced by W. A. Boutwell, president.

This is approximately twice the space available last year. Demand for reservations by exhibitors already is running well ahead of a year ago, Richard C. Eigner, director of exhibits and space, said.

In addition to the various displays, the "Miss Palm Beach" contest will be held at the fair. Preparations were begun immediately for the installation of permanent utility, "Miss Agriculture," "Miss Industry," and "Miss Tourism," and will be awarded numerous prizes.

All will serve as "1956 Fair Hostesses" during Fair Week and will be honored at special affairs.

As usual, the exposition will feature all the attractions of an old-fashioned fair with an entertainment program of midway events and contests for young and old. A series of special events is being arranged for winter visitors.

Deeds to the new fairgrounds were turned over to officials Dec. 29.

One of the more important items, according to Lamar Allen, fair manager, will be the widening and re-surfacing of a road leading to a 5,000-car parking lot.

"Another big project" Allen said, will be the erection of a hurricane wire fence around the entire tract to provide the utmost in security for exhibitors.

This year's fair is being held about five weeks earlier than heretofore because the board of directors believes that more visitors will be able to attend at the height of the winter season.

War Set To Open Vs. Polio

Palm Beach county's March of Dimes fund campaigners are completing plans this week for a countywide drive set to get underway Jan. 3, to raise money for polio treatment and research.

The fund drive, which will continue throughout the month of January, is being directed by T. Elmo Robinson, West Palm Beach attorney, who has been named county March of Dimes chairman.

Robinson said his organization will include leaders in every community in the county—many of whom have taken part in previous fund campaigns.

The aim of his advisory committee, the chairman said, is to have a March of Dimes committee in every community in the county—a plan that has worked successfully in the past and one that has put Palm Beach county in one of the top spots in the state in the annual campaign.

Last year Palm Beach county was sixth highest in Florida, raising more than $40,000. Robinson said he hoped the amount could be doubled this year so that additional funds would be available to meet the great need for polio treatment and research.

Two major campaign events, Robinson said, will be a countywide Blue Crucifix Day to be held Jan. 7 and the annual Mothers March set for Jan. 20. Also planned, he said, is a day-long television show in which hundreds of entertainers will take part.

A county March of Dimes headquarters has been opened in West Palm Beach at 3201 S. Olive Ave., and will operate daily throughout the campaign.

South Bay Tables Sunday Beer Plea

SOUTH BAY — The request of two restaurant owners that they be permitted to sell beer with meals on Sunday was tabled indefinitely by City Council Monday night.

Council's action followed receipt of a petition signed by 42 residents of the city, who protested issuance of a permit for such sales.

The request was made originally by Nick Ballas, proprietor of Nick's Restaurant.

James M. Owens Jr., Palm Beach county tax assessor, is making it easier for residents to obtain a home exemption.

Lack of office space and parking facilities at the temporary headquarters at 711 N. Dixie Highway West Palm Beach, prompted the innovation.

This year, Owens is mailing a post card form of application to each person who received a home exemption in 1955. Full information may be obtained by reading Owens' advertisement elsewhere in this edition.

Sales Of Christmas Seals Reach Total Of $28,728

Christmas Seal sales totaled $28,728.52 in Palm Beach county, according to the latest compilations reported by A. Parker Bryant, seal sale chairman for the county's Tuberculosis and Health Association.

Free Pine Seedlings Offered To Schools

TALLAHASSEE — The Florida Forest Service is offering 50 free pine seedlings to any school in the state that plans to hold an Arbor Day planting. Florida's current Arbor Day is Jan. 20.

J. Edwin Moore, chief of the service's information and education branch, said the deadline for orders from schools is Jan. 10. Seedlings will be delivered in time for the planting date.

Requests for seedlings may be made by letter from the school principal or teacher, Moore said.

Red Tide Is Studied

Research drift tubes were released recently by the University of Miami Marine Laboratory along Florida's west and northwest coast to aid in research on the red tide, fish-killers, marine organism that has appeared in Gulf waters.

Only Unlucky For Bettors

Sunshine Park Race Track at Oldsmar, near Tampa, has chosen a lucky date for the 1956 opening. The horse track opens a 55-day season on Friday, Jan. 13.

Livingston Levels Criticism At Chief, Hints At Resigning

BELLE GLADE — Tempers flared, harsh words were spoken and one member of the City Commission threatened to hand in his resignation at a stormy meeting of the board here Wednesday night.

The tension was released late in the meeting when Commissioner J. H. Livingston Jr., took Police Chief Charles Goodlett to task for allegedly failing to enforce a mandate of the council in the matter of fireworks sales before Christmas.

HOW'S THE WEATHER?
That's an important question to folks who live in the Gulf of Mexico for a living. Also, there are a lot of people working on the oil drilling rigs in the Gulf, and they like to know. Last year Congress appropriated $96,000 for the weather bureau to operate a weather ship in the Gulf—but they didn't have the ship.

This year, they were authorized to contract with private shipping lines to use merchant ships in the Gulf to relay results of "upper air soundings" to shore stations where they will be plotted and broadcast as regular weather reports.

One such ship is the A. A. Jakkula, an oceanographic survey craft belonging to Texas A. and M. College. Now in process of having weather instruments and equipment installed, she will be ready this spring for service.

HE-COON! AT WORK
When Congressman Bob Sikes was asked to head the organizing group for Florida for Adlai Stevenson's upcoming presidential primary campaign, Stevenson remembered that Bob's district was one of the two in Florida that didn't go for Ike in 1952. The other was Billy Matthews' 8th.

Guess is that when Sikes returns to Washington, he will shift the work load of his new assignment to the shoulders of someone else, because it has long been known that Sikes won't participate in anything that will interfere with his job on the Appropriations Committee here.

TAKE A HINT—When Congressman Charlie Bennett returned to Washington last week he was greeted as he entered his office by the sight of a beautifully decorated Christmas tree. This one was different. Instead of the usual tinsel and frilly ornaments that most folks use for decoration, this tree was decked out in colorful office supplies; a few pens and pencils and other odds and ends, with the principal decoration being more than two dozen red flexible drafting cylinders.

The tree was most colorful, besides letting everyone know in a Christmas sort of way, just how much work had been going through the office.

FEDERAL SCHOOL MONEY
Under the plan for the Federal Government to help finance schools in areas where there are heavy concentrations of Federal personnel, two Florida counties last week were notified of their annual allotments. Tampa will receive $94,749 in 1956 and Orange County will pick up a check for $120,243.

FOR HOW LONG? — On "permanent loan" from the U.S. Coast and Geodetic survey to the new Martin County "House of Refuge" museum is an old fashioned sea-chart printing plate of the nearby waters. It is four by six feet and is made of copper and weighs more than 180 pounds. The gift was arranged by Congressman Paul Rogers.

A FEW TRAVELERS—Senator and Mrs. Spessard Holland are back from a week in the Panama Canal Zone. The Senator made the trip as a member of the committee that puts up the money to run the Canal, and spent his time on a tour of inspection—checking up on how the money is being spent—And off to Florida for Christmas. They were Marilee and Layton MacNichol (to Riverview)—the works for Congressman Haley—and Vello Adams spent her first Christmas in Florida in five years—when she visited her mother, Mrs. W. E. Adams of Ocala.

(She reports that she helped wash dishes for 23 guests on Christmas day—big family reunion.)

And a birthday surprise party for Mrs. Doris Brasseur, a secretary in the office of Congressman Cramer, attracted people from up and down the highways—and lasted long after working hours.

Reassuringly, brother says

With the advent of another year we might well be skeptical and say, "Why celebrate with such fervor and excitement? A good year had to die so 1955 could be born."

We might say this, but no one does. If 1955 was a good year, it will be well remembered, but few will dwell upon its passing. It must give way to a bright new year, bringing with it the profound impression that we are again blessed with an invaluable supply of new days, hours and minutes. We have found a new reservoir of time; time in which to make plans, to do things, to live and think, and to make our dreams come true.

Time is indeed the true coin of our mortal realm, a deeply personal possession that each is free to spend, squander, sell, give away, devote to the glory of God and to the causes of humanity.

And though 1955 marks yet another milestone along the journey of life that is all too short and quickly travelled, it is joyfully welcomed as the giver of a new and magical handful of time. With this magical handful it is possible to defeat the worries of age; to conquer fear; to see through the shadows of disillusionment.

With undetermined determination and with the help of God, this handful of living, this New Year 1956, can be recorded in the book of life upon earth as a year of achievement in man's hopeful quest for a better world—where all nations and all people live together in joy, peace and harmony.

LONGEST YEAR

Once there was a year which contained 445 days—or an extra two months.

Numa Pompilius supposedly created the Roman calendar. In the seventh century B. C. Although revised several times, the calendar by Julius Caesar's time was two months behind the sun.

When Caesar set his experts to the task of revising the calendar in the 10th century, they found they had to meet the problem of catching up with the sun. So two months were inserted between the months of November and December for the year 46 B. C.

SURVEY REVEALS MILLIONS OF RICH IDLE ACRES

THE MAP above shows that there are nearly 9 million acres of rich, idle farm land in the southeastern states waiting to produce more food for the nation when needed. Despite this fact, the Federal Bureau of Reclamation wants Congress to approve the incredible Upper Colorado River Project which would cost the nation's taxpayers $4 billion in added taxes to "irrigate" 583,000 acres of arid mountain land in Colorado, New Mexico, Utah and Wyoming. Figures for the idle southeastern land were obtained from the U. S. Soil Conservation Service. This land could be brought into production at a fraction of the cost of creating new agricultural lands in the Upper Colorado River Basin.

NOTICE TO HOMESTEAD OWNERS

Due to the remodeling of the County Court House Building it has been necessary for me to arrange temporary offices at 711 North Dixie Highway, West Palm Beach. Lack of office space and parking facilities at this new address would create a hardship for you, and the other home owners, who annually file a renewal application on the same property in person.

For your convenience I am, therefore, mailing a post card form of application to each person who received a homestead exemption in 1955, unless I have information that the property has been sold or the owner moved his legal residence. If you still own and occupy as your homestead the same property on which you obtained the exemption for 1955, you should sign and mail to me the return portion of the card. However, if you have acquired a different home or are applying for the first time it will be necessary to call at the Assessor's Office in person.

New laws passed by the 1955 Legislature increased the exemption on household goods and personal effects used in the homes of permanent residents of Florida from $500 to $1,000. It is also provided that such persons need not file a return of this type of property in order to obtain the personal property exemption. The filing of your homestead application will be considered also as an application for household goods exemption.

Returns must still be filed on the contents of rental property, business and farm properties, etc. If returns of such property are not filed the law requires the levy of a penalty assessment. Also returns of Intangible Personal Property must be filed to avoid a penalty assessment.

If further information is desired please call the Assessor's Office, Telephone West Palm Beach 21639.

A NEW YEAR'S WISH

When you read this, the year 1955 will have but a few short days left before it slips noisily into history and the infant 1956 is born.

We imagine 1955 was a good year for most of us. The world, although restless, was at peace—or as much at peace as is possible when evil forces are quietly at work.

The United States and its people were spared enemy attack, our young men were not killed or wounded in foreign lands, and prosperity stood at a high point in our lives.

We here in Florida were spared, by the grace of God, the havoc of hurricanes, or floods, or serious crop failure. Prices were high, but with them went rich rewards in new automobiles, better clothes, more abundant food.

Yes, 1955 was a good year for all of us as we look back and the prospects are equally good for a rich and prosperous 1956.

We here at the Lake Shore Press join in wishing all of you the best in the months to come. May 1956 be even bigger and better than the 12-month period drawing to a close. And may we say simply, from all of us to all of you a

HAPPY AND PROSPEROUS NEW YEAR!

Three Famous Americans Born New Year's Day

January 1, perennially celebrated as the start of a new year, is also the birthday of three famous Americans.

On January 1, 1735, a boy was born in Boston, Mass. He grew up to be a silversmith and engraver, designed and printed the first Continental money and the first official seal of the colonies. An amateur inventor, he discovered a process for rolling sheet copper. But he is most famous for a horse ride he made on the night of April 18, 1776. His name: Paul Revere.

Seventeen years later, in 1752, a girl was born in Philadelphia on the first day of the year. She was Betty Ross—maker of the first American flag. On the same day was born the great poet—Philip Freneau.

Other events that took place on January 1: George Washington at Cambridge—raised for the first time the flag of the United States, 1776; Florida adopted the constitution, 1821; Union of Ireland and Great Britain, 1801; de Sousa discovered Rio de Janeiro, 1511; the United Nations Declaration signed, 1942; the first Tournament of Roses, 1889.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Scruggs, and son, Donny, spent the holidays with her mother in Apopka.

Superstitions, Traditions Mark New Year Scene

Traditions and superstitions have long been a part of the New Year scene around the world.

The Chinese believe one must pay up all their debts if the New Year is to be a successful one. The English, on the other hand, consider it a good idea to start a savings account on January 1, since what you do on the New Year's Day is indicative of what you will do the rest of the year.

One of the most widespread superstitions concerns the "first-footer," the first person to enter a household on New Year's morning. In early days, women and light-haired men were considered "unlucky" first-footers.

An ancient custom in Japan was to scatter parched beans about the house, supposedly driving away evil influences and inviting good luck to enter.

The Romans were accustomed to having tiny masks of Bacchus or Pan, and the idea being to impart vitality to every side of the tree to which the masks were pinned by the wind.

Pest-control in various parts of the world once baked special cakes for the New Year. The cake was dashed against the door and as the family members gathered up the pieces to eat them they prayed that neither hunger nor want should enter the house during the new year.

In olden times some families at so sought a stimulus for the New Year by "dipping" into the B.B. The head of the family, with his eyes closed, opened the family Bible and indicated a passage with his finger. The text read and interpreted was supposed to be indicative of the luck-good or bad—that would be in store during the twelve months ahead.

Health TOPICS

CARBON MONOXIDE

The occasional arrival of colder weather sometimes causes doors and windows to be closed in Florida, and brings a likelihood of carbon monoxide poisoning.

Carbon monoxide is a gas which is formed by burning materials for heat or light with a scanty supply of oxygen. It is non-irritating, colorless, tasteless and odorless and therefore is highly dangerous.

In the home, it may be encountered through accidental leakage of manufactured gas from open burners with defective fittings, and from imperfect combustion in improperly constructed or operated stoves or heaters. Death occurs many times in closed garages caused by inhaling of carbon monoxide from the exhaust of running automobile engines.

Carbon monoxide unites with hemoglobin in the red blood cells, the pigment of the red corpuscles in the blood. This oxygen is crowded out of the blood, and the result is oxygen starvation or suffocation. Carbon monoxide may kill suddenly and without warning, as in mine dust explosions. Or the onset may be slow with headache as the first symptom, then muscular weakness, disturbed memory, loss of consciousness, coma and death. Some victims have had the ghastly experience of muscular weakness while retaining full consciousness and not being able to move from the spot.

Emergency treatment for carbon monoxide poisoning calls for immediate removal of the victim from the contaminated area, summoning a physician and applying artificial respiration if breathing appears to have ceased.

Lincoln Proclamation Issued on New Year's

On New Year's day, 1863, President Lincoln issued a proclamation freeing the slaves in states and parts of states where the people were then in rebellion.

The areas designated were Arkansas, Texas, Mississippi, Alabama, Florida, Georgia, South Carolina, North Carolina and large parts of Louisiana and Virginia. Tennessee was excepted from the proclamation, although the Union armies were far from bringing success in their task of completing it under government control.

The Emancipation Proclamation did not abolish slavery. That was accomplished by the thirteenth amendment, which went into effect Dec. 18, 1865.

REPORT on Modern Living

BY LYNN SCOTT Director, Palm Beach Council

We sit down to eat three times a day and setting a table soon becomes a necessary chore. But since the life of a homemaker is essentially one of creation, few of us are satisfied with mere utilitarian tableware.

A clever centerpiece is sometimes all that is needed to spark up a table. Take your cue from one of the new plastic flower centers. They are simple, long and have graceful slanting sides. Glass or plastic, they are added to the plastic for extra strength.

Polish up some old-fashioned glass and put them in one of these dark green or black plastic centers.

They'll be good eating later for dessert with cheddar cheese from may brighten a morning table with the breakfast oranges similarly displayed in a white or yellow planter.

FULL SCHEDULE PLANNED AT BELLE GLADE CHURCH

The schedule for New Year's Day at St. John the Apostle Episcopal Church in Belle Glade will be as usual. Holy Eucharist will be at 9 a.m., followed by Sunday School at 10 a.m. At the worship service, Father John Clarence Petrie will preach on "The Holy Name of Jesus." The Young People's Service League meets at 6 p.m. On Tuesday, at 7:30 a.m., the Holy Eucharist will be offered as of the Octave of St. John the Apostle, patron saint of the congregation.

At the 9 a.m. service on New Year's Day, licenses as lay readers will be given from Rt. Rev. Henry I. Lewis, D.D., bishop of the diocese of South Florida to the following: Dr. G. R. Townsend, G. E. Averill, E. S. Roberts, W. D. Matthews and Donald D. Parke. The ceremony will be conducted by Rev. Petrie. Lay readers are authorized to lead the offices of morning and evening prayer and the Litany and to read sermons approved by the bishop. The readers are a help to the priest, Father Petrie states, taking charge during his vacation, and at other times. It is planned this year to have daily services throughout Holy Week, which will be possible only through the use of lay readers as the vicar has to give time in Clewiston as well as locally.

IT'S UP TO YOU

By Howard E. Kershner, L.H.D.

The early settlers on the American continent felt the tyranny of governmental rules, regulations, and laws. They were not used to the rules, and injustice generally. The first two institutions established in the colonies were the churches and the schools. They were financed, controlled and operated by the local communities. When the Constitution of the United States was adopted, schools and churches were guaranteed the right of continuance as free institutions without any federal controls or national strings attached.

The church has continued to be a free agent functioning under the various governing rules of their members and denominational bodies. The school, too, until recently a local institution is now being more and more brought under state control. Federal influence and finance is also creeping in.

The government has now established many programs of overlapping benefits in the educational field. Infatuation has so deflated individual and local finance that the demand for Federal aid to education is becoming insistent. As many as 275 separate Federal activities are functioning in education. At least twelve Federal agencies participate in administering these programs. More Federal aid is gradually wrapping up education in the national governmental program.

Next in importance to the church and freighted with the weight of our freedom, self government and economic well being, education should be locally operated and without federal restrictions or influence of any kind.

For higher education private sources will have to be further developed to finance the education of our youth rather than increase the dependence of colleges on Federal largesse, leading as it inevitably will to Federal control.

Miss Phelan Becomes Bride Of Randy Forrest In First Baptist Church

The wedding of Miss Beverly Rhodes Phelan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Phelan, 333 SE Ave. F, and Randy Forrest, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. N. Forrest of 125 NW Ave. F, both of Belle Glade, took place on Monday, Dec. 19, at 5:30 p.m. at the First Baptist Church with Rev. U. W. Malcolm using the double ring service.

The church was decorated with palms centered with a large sunburst arrangement of white gladioli, chrysanthemums and English holly, with a candelabra holding white tapers.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a full length gown of ivory satin, and Chantilly lace, having a fitted basque waist, and long sleeves of lace in a delicate design, re-embroidered with intricate sequins and a tiny collar of lace with seed pearls and sequins. The full skirt of satin fell into a graceful train. She wore a tiered veil of French silk illusion, falling over a satin headpiece outlined with seed pearls. Her bouquet was a cascade of white orchids and yellow lilies.

Miss Claudia Phelan served as her sister's maid of honor, while bridesmaids were Miss Lisa Humphries, Miss Esther Friedheim, Miss Carolyn Earwood, Miss Patti Ingram, and junior bridesmaid, Miss Cherry Bridges. All wore identical street length gowns of red satin, princess style with shawl necklines, and matching gloves. They wore red satin headpieces with seed pearls and intricate sequins in a delicate design on the sides, and long white gloves. The maid of honor carried a crescent bouquet of white carnations and tuberoses, and the bridesmaids carried bouquets of white chrysanthemums and English holly, in present design. The bouquet carried by the junior bridesmaid was a miniature of that carried by the bride.

The flower girl was Claire Mosteller, of Cape Coral, a cousin of the groom, who was dressed as a miniature bride, and carried a bouquet which was also a duplicate of the bride's in miniature. Roger Prince was ringbearer.

Donald Randall of Allenton, Ga., served as the cousin's best man, while ushers were Ronnie Cameron, Charles Parrish, H. V. Draa, Jr. of Gainesville, and Jim Smith, of Wausau.

The bride's mother wore a hyacinth blue satin sleeveless gown with matching long sleeved bolero of lace, matching accessories, and a white sequin hat. She had a corsage of yellow orchids.

The groom's mother wore a steel blue silk jacket dress with white accessories, and a yellow orchid corsage.

A reception in the Recreation Hall of the church followed immediately after the ceremony. Mrs. Evelyn Mixson was in charge, and cut the cake, while Mrs. U. W. Malcolm served punch. Assisting in serving were Miss Barbara Wedgworth, Miss Wanda Mackey, Miss Dorothy Mobley and Mrs. Arthur Levy. Miss Sherry Mixson kept the bride's book.

A red satin cloth, decorated with bands of white satin ribbon, ending in a large white satin bow and wedding bells, covered the serving table. An arrangement of white gladioli, white mums, small pompons with red roses woven into a crescent design, in a silver bowl was in the center of the table. Silver candelabra with white candles, decorated with wax lilies of the valley, flanked the centerpiece.

The silver punch bowl was surrounded with English holly, and was at one end of the table, while a three tier wedding cake topped with crystal sugar balls was at the other. Potted palms and red candles with Christmas greens and poinsettias decorated the Reception Hall.

it won't work. You're going to be in the wrong way. There are five men here, all elected by the people. You can't dictate to the police chief or the city manager and you can't go around giving orders to any city employee. You're taking too much responsibility."

Commissioner J. Marvin Unwin who, with Livingston, make up what is known as the minority members of the board, then engaged in a verbal exchange with Ingram.

At the end of that argument, Livingston declared he was "seriously considering resigning." Later, he said he would continue to sit as a member of the commission, but wouldn't have any more to say about police wearing uniforms, etc.

Unwin said he would take a "long rest" and then return to the city. "I'm going to stay up here (in council) and do my best until the people see fit to not elect me," he said. "And all of you will know I'm here."

"You'll know I'm here, too," Ingram said.

Earlier, council hired the firm of Sullivan, Nelson & Goss, West Palm Beach, to serve as fiscal agents in preparing and handling the sale of a revenue bond issue to pay for city improvements.

The bond issue, for $200,000 or less, depending on the amount of money needed, would be paid out of revenue derived from the Florida Power & Light Co., franchise. The West Palm Beach firm will receive $150,000 for the sale of the bonds, including the cost of the city attorney.

The commission also passed on second reading an ordinance extending the use of parking meters from 6 to 9 p.m. on Saturday nights, established additional parking meter zones in the colored area and passed a measure annexing an area of approximately 20 acres to the city.

Land annexed is located south of the present city limits and east of SR 80.

Members of the commission also agreed to meet Tuesday night with the Civil Service Board on the latter's request and decided to publish the title list of future ordinances. Full details of such ordinances will be made available on the official bulletin board.

Mayor Walter Ashley presided over the meeting.

Beware Of 'Spreading Decline' Cures, Growers Told

LAKE LAND — State Plant Commissioner Ed L. Ayers is warning citrus growers about firms which claim they have a "cure" for the "spreading decline," a disease of citrus trees caused by tiny worms gnawing their roots. There is no scientific evidence available that any of these so-called "cure-all" control or limit in any manner the devastation caused by the burrowing nematode, the commissioner told the state's citrus growers through the Triangle weekly membership publication of Florida Citrus Mutual.

"In the past few weeks," Ayers said, "Florida citrus growers have been besieged with literature from a few companies or individuals making unjustified claims that a particular product will control 'spreading decline,' caused by the burrowing nematode. In some instances, the products are declared to be a 'cure-all' for this condition."

Ayers said scientists employed by the State Plant Board, the Citrus Experiment Station and federal researchers "are working feverishly to discover a means of killing the nematode without injuring the root system of citrus trees."

"However, these scientists are unanimous in their conclusions that so far as is presently known, the program of control and containment which provides for the removal of infested trees and the treatment of the soil is the only practical approach to the problem."

"Certain of the products which are advertised so extensively and for which there are unjustified claims are made may have a temporary stimulating effect on trees which are known to be infested with the burrowing nematode, and which have gone into a state of decline. Tests have shown, however, that the net results from these treatments, over a period of time, are completely valueless."

"I urge everyone concerned to refrain from spending money for these 'cure-all' products until a check is made with qualified research workers for a appraisal of the particular product."

Gasoline And Coffee Mix; Gasoline, Alcohol Don't

JACKSONVILLE — "Gasoline and coffee are good mixers for safe and sane holiday driving," Glen P. Woodard, executive secretary of the Florida Petroleum Industries Committee, said today. He asked motorists to "make coffee the one for the road" during the three-day New Year's weekend.

Last year 296 people died on the New Year's weekend, Woodard said. "Don't let your toast to a happy New Year be a salute to disaster and tragedy," he warned.

He urged particular care at night, pointing out that nearly three out of five deaths occur during the hours of darkness. Observing that 40 per cent of all traffic deaths occur on weekends, he said that highway accident figures show that the most dangerous day of the week is Saturday.

"When we think that New Year's Eve will be on Saturday night, it gives you something to think about," Woodard said. He offered this advice as part of the Petroleum Industry's Highway Safety Program.

"Gasoline and liquor don't mix. But gasoline and coffee are the best holiday mixers for a happy New Year."
